Entertainer Wows Crowd

Like most holiday parties people gather to celebrate the season, but for this company they had the extra special guest, Magical Balloon-dude Dale.

Many people assume that balloons are just for kids, but boy was this group of adults blown away by the cool holiday balloons that were being carried around.

Snowmen, candy canes, wreaths, reindeers, angels, penguins, Santa Claus, and his friend Rudolf were all twisted out of balloons.

"I have seen many balloonist, but this guy was great! Not only was he doing some of the best balloons I have ever seen, but was funny too". Said one of the guest.

Balloon entertainment is combining art with balloons and tossing a dash of comedy into the mix and creating fun for everyone.

Dale was quoted as saying "I had more adults in line then kids, but it is the holiday season and everyone's a kid."

As I watched this creative entertainer twist a 3 foot balloon into a work of art, I found myself pointing to others standing around saying "Wow, did you see that. He broke the balloon and he is still twisting it. How's he doing that?"

Dale quickly replied "I went to a two year college seven years".

"This was one of the best holiday parties I have attended, and I have to say the thing I will remember most about this event was Magical Balloon-dude Dale".

"I felt like a little kid, and watched in amazement as he twisted those balloons — wow, what talent."

Avoiding Problems with Christmas party entertainment

One problem I have seen over my many years of balloon entertaining is overwhelming the Christmas party entertainer with children. When planning a Christmas party it is vital to have an exact number count of kids attending. Most organizers assume Santa will be the main focus of the children, but this is a misconception. Many times the balloon line exceeds Santa's line. To prevent this problem, estimate 1.5 minutes per child. Thirty to thirty-five kids an hour, one hundred kids consider two hours minimal.

If time constraint is a problem, consider hiring multiple entertainers. People do not like waiting in long lines; line length should only be 10-15 people for a corporate Christmas party.
